who we are

La'Met is an international, multi-cultural, full-service agency and concept creator supporting government, corporations, education and SMEs from diverse market sectors with their national and international development.

La'Met embrace diversity to connect people and businesses that are passionately committed to the highest level of personal performance and service.

La'Met provide one-stop solutions backed-up by a dedicated team and partners in local markets with the knowledge and language skills required to ensure cultural differences are never an obstacle to success.

The La'Met network covers an extensive portion of Europe, North America, Asia and Africa.

Skill and Knowledge Development (S.K.D) assists government organisations in bringing and keeping in-house the knowledge, processes and personnel skills they need while developing a culture of internal knowledge and talent transfer to create added value in terms of human resources, flexibility and the quality of services offered.

education

La'Met education guide and assist schools, universities and third parties acting in the educational arena with their evolution and adaptation to an ever changing international world through identifying specific needs and proposing specialised tailor-made solutions.

Education services are in line with the directives and requirements of the European Union; from the accreditation of titles to BTEC, BA MBA and ECT to the alignment of educational institutions to enhance their international presence and overcome cross cultural barriers within education.

La'Met maximizes corporate results while maintaining and managing corporate risks.

Disciplines include project support, ISO auditing & training, international partner programmes, market positioning and legal and finance solutions.

small medium enterprises

La'Met SME works with Small and Medium Enterprises (SME) from diverse sectors all over the world providing support and assistance to businesses in the international arena.

Offerings include sales promotions, leads generation, internal sales structures and trainings which support companies in their international development. Marketing intelligence reports with in-market research ensure companies are confident of their legal obligations and security when growing in an international market.

our leadership and partners

By creating and building a traditional business leadership with global partners La'Met offer comprehensive professional services tailored to meet our clients' needs on a multinational and national level.

Government, corporation, education, and small medium enterprise rely on La'Met to provide them with quality professional services.

Through our worldwide Project Exchange Network "PEN" we are able to offer all clients the range of skills and experiences needed to succeed.
